VARIED WEATHER ENDANGERS LIFE SUNDAY EVENING

Warm Rain Succeeded By Cloudburst and Hail Storm in West Kentucky.

Experiences of Those Who
Were in it.

TURNS COLD DURING NIGHT.

Variety was what the weather man had stored up for Paducahans yesterday. Sunday morning broke an ideal spring day but was marred by threatening skies, followed by a light rain about 11 o'clock. Mercury went up to the 78 mark and winter togs were quite unsuitable.

Another touch of the weather man's products was felt about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and a terrific hail storm blew for a short time, followed by rain and a sudden drop in temperature. It grew colder as night fell and today broke with the thermometer standing at 31 degrees.

A high wind played over the local harbor late yesterday afternoon and there was a stiff breeze during the night. Towboats and gasoline boats composing the "mosquito fleet" were handled roughly but there was no damage.

No serious damage to the county roads has been reported, and so far no reports of washouts or bridges have been received by County Judge Alben W. Barkley. All the creeks are out of their banks, and in many places the roads were submerged.

In the city the streets were covered with water, but the storm water sewers took care of the excess water in a short time after the downpour ceased. Many window panes were broken by the heavy hail. Some of the hail stones were almost as large as eggs, and pelted down like bullets.

Store Is Blown Down.
Calvert City, Ky., Nov. 28. (Special)—The store house of W. Johnson was blown down in the storm yesterday. The building was burned several months ago and was under reconstruction.

Caught in the River.
Caught on Dog Island in the Ohio river near Smithland yesterday afternoon by the terrific storm that swept over western Kentucky a party of hunters had narrow escapes with their lives. The party had two gasoline launches and one was lost while only good fortune prevented the second from sinking.

Most of the members of the party are employees of the Illinois Central shops and made the trip to the island to enjoy the day hunting. Just before the storm began Pat Runyan and D. D. Dowden started from the island to Smithland in a small gasoline launch. They failed to reach their destination before the gale struck them and the giant waves rapidly filled the little boat with water. They made for the bank, but before land was reached the little craft sank, and Runyan and Dowden were forced to swim ashore.

When the boat sank they lost four fine guns and other hunting paraphernalia. Making their way to Smithland, the two men telephoned to Paducah and spent the night at Smithland. Today friends went up the river to assist them in recovering the boat and paraphernalia if possible.

The remaining members of the hunting party stayed on the island until after the rain ceased and then started to return to Paducah in the launch "Dan Patch," the speedy craft of Bud Quarles. In the boat were Pat Donnigan, Harry Kelley, Thomas Metcalfe, Ed Fogarty, Joe Danaher, Chief Harry Lloyd, Kennie Murray and Charles Ackerman. All went well until Livingston's point was reached when a gust of wind struck the craft, and blew it against the point. The waves splashed into the boat and dammed the coils, stopping the engine.

Wall of Home Crushed In.
The terrific wind yesterday afternoon during the cloudburst blew in the west wall of the residence of Mack Bean, 711 Goebel avenue. The house is a three room brick cottage and was badly damaged by the wind and rain.

Thomas Bean was in the room when the wall cracked, and was struck by several flying bricks, but, fortunately, was not seriously injured. He looked out the window in the room and was starting into the

TAG DAY PROFITS.

Tag Day Saturday netted $226 to the Philanthropic department of the Woman's club in charge of the charity work in the city. The workers are well pleased with their efforts. Rain interfered with the success of the day, and the number of tag sellers was small. The business district was well covered, however. No tags were sold Saturday night as was planned.

by Court—Girl Commits Suicide—Jury Being Chosen in Wendling Case.

Marion, Ky., Nov. 28. (Special)—Only the trial of Ott Peake, charged with being a member of the night riders in the raid upon Dycusburg, will be called at this term of the Marion circuit court. The night rider case was taken up today, and all morning was spent in securing a jury for the trial. A long panel of jurors was exhausted. The trial of Alonzo Gray, also under indictment for being a member of the party in the raid on Dycusburg, will be passed as Gray is in the Hopkinsville jail on the charge of murder.

The Wendling Case.
Louisville, Ky., Nov. 28. (Special)—The selection of a jury began today in the trial of Joseph Wendling, murderer of little Alma Kellner.

Young Girl Hangs Self.
Scottsville, Ky., Nov. 28. (Special)—Myrtle Frost, 14 years old, daughter of Bud Frost, committed suicide by hanging herself in the barn. The cause is unknown.

Mrs. Charles E. Smith.

Eddyville, Ky., Nov. 28. (Special)—The death of Mrs. Charles E. Smith early yesterday morning came as a shock to relatives and friends. She died at her home at Birmingham, and will be buried in the city cemetery here tomorrow. She was the daughter of I. M. Gray of this county. Her husband is president of the First National Bank of this city. Mrs. Smith was a Christian and a most loveable woman. She died of heart trouble.

NEARLY HALF OF IT FROM THE PURCHASE

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 28. (Special)—The official vote in the First district shows: For congress—James, 11,574; Horney, 1,339; for appellate court: Nunn, 19,967. The Democratic plurality for the state is 28,202.

ELEY'S ELECTION TO BE CONTESTED?

EAKER MAY TAKE OPINION OF ATTORNEY GENERAL AS BASIS OF SUIT.

The board of health made an attempt to meet this afternoon, but owing to the failure to get a quorum the meeting was postponed until Wednesday. Several important matters will come before the health department. One will be the draining of the pond lying between Ninth, Tenth, Caldwell and Norton streets. Dr. Holland will ask for the extension of the sewer from Fifth and Trimble streets east to the Ohio river and will also ask for the re-election of the present sanitary inspectors, owing to their efficiency. The board will investigate the storm water sewerage at Sixth and Monroe streets, which is too small.

The matter of prosecuting property owners in sewer district, No. 1, who have failed to make connections, will be discussed.

"Ruthless Monster is the Sugar Trust

New York, Nov. 28.—In one of the most sensational petitions ever filed in the federal court, the department of justice today asked the United States circuit court to dissolve the sugar trust. The combination is characterized as a "ruthless monster," which crushed all it could not control. The court is urged to dissolve it "by receiver or otherwise and restore old time competition."

Trust agreements, monopoly frauds, and graft are alleged.

Hospital Benefit

MARION CHOSEN FOR MEETING OF FIRST DISTRICT

Teachers Will Go There On Special Train to Attend
1911 Association.

Prof. J. A. Carnagey Given
Second Place.

NOT MANY FROM THIS CITY.

In 1911 the First District Educational association, which adjourned late Saturday afternoon after a successful two days' session in Wickliffe, will meet at Marion. The capital of Crittenden county put up a hard fight for the next meeting, because of the splendid attendance from that part of the district. Marion was selected unanimously although Mayfield invited the association for next year.

In the annual election of officers Paducah was represented as Prof. J. A. Carnagey, superintendent of the city schools, was elected secretary-treasurer. It is an honor well appreciated by Professor Carnagey. Prof. J. E. Lane, of Wickliffe, superintendent of the Ballard county schools, was elected president. This year he was secretary-treasurer. Prof. J. U. Snyder, of Marion, was elected vice-president.

The Paducah teachers returned Saturday night at 8 o'clock and were pleased with the hospitality extended by the Wickliffe citizens, who threw their doors open to the teachers. Over 300 teachers from the district were present, and it was the most successful meeting in the history of the association. There was only a small percentage of the Paducah teachers present.

For the purpose of encouraging a larger attendance at the meeting next year it is planned to charter a special train to leave Cairo early in the morning. The train would go south to Fulton and then north to Paducah, and thence to Princeton and over the Evansville district to Marion. On the special train the same fare could be charged from all points, and the teachers living in the southwestern part of the district would not be taxed heavily for attending the meeting.

Couple Fail to Return From Lakes And it is Believed They Drowned During Storm on River Yesterday

Friends of John P. Casey and
His Wife Think Their Boat
Capsized—Seek For Them in Illinois.

Missing since yesterday morning when they started on a fishing trip to the lakes in Illinois, John P. Casey and his wife, residing at 313 George street, are believed to have been drowned. Not a word has been heard from the missing couple, and this afternoon several friends went across the river to make an investigation and ascertain whether Casey and his wife are still at the lakes or whether they started home yesterday afternoon and were caught in the storm.

Casey is an employee at the Ferguson & Palmer saw mill, and as usual yesterday morning he and his wife were fishing at the Illinois lakes. They crossed the river in a skiff, and their friends fear that they tried to return, and the wind and waves upset the frail craft. Frequently Casey and his wife have crossed the river when the waves were high, and their friends fear that they might have attempted to cross the Ohio yesterday.

When Casey and his wife failed to return last night their friends were not at first alarmed, but when this morning they did not return, friends crossed the river to institute a search. Both Casey and his wife are about 40 years old, and have resided in Mechanicsburg for a number of years.

ENGLISH PARLIAMENT IS DISSOLVED TODAY

London, Nov. 28.—Parliament was dissolved today. The fate of the house of lords now depends upon the elections beginning next Friday. Should the Liberals, led by Premier Asquith, win, King George is expected to create enough lords from the ranks of the Liberals to place them in the majority and in a position to outvote the Conservatives.

The dissolution writs for the old parliament were issued tonight. The new parliament to be elected either in December or January, is ordered to meet January 31, 1911.

RIVER PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR CALL FOR 22 MILLIONS

Engineer Recommends Work to be Done on Rivers and Harbors.

Lakes-to-Gulf Gets no Appropriation.

LOCKS AND DAMS IN THE OHIO.

Washington, Nov. 28.—Estimates for rivers and harbors improvements for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1912, submitted in the annual report of General W. D. Bixby, chief of engineers, U. S. A., made public today, aggregating $22,227,361. No specific appropriation is asked for the Lakes-to-the-Gulf project. The report says the estimates are low, as future work will be provided for in fixed annual appropriations. Bixby selects only 211 projects worthy of appropriations.

Ten per cent of the total will be given towards the restoration and maintenance of completed work in 136 localities. The major is given to the Ohio, Mississippi, Detroit, Hudson, Delaware and Columbia rivers and 11 harbors.

Estimates for the Ohio river are: For locks and dams, $1,550,000; for operating expenses, maintenance, etc., $2,000,000. In addition Congress is asked to appropriate for the placing of contracts for future work, aggregating $8,000,000. Two special estimates are $155,000 for locks and dams, No. 26, and $229,000 for open channel work.

For the Mississippi river: For work between St. Paul and Minneapolis, $240,000; between Minneapolis and the Missouri river, $1,250,000; between the Missouri and Ohio rivers, $1,000,000; improvements in the southwest pass of the Mississippi, $450,000, and $450,000 for work in that section.

Seattle, Wash., 237,194, an increase of 156,523, or 194 per cent, over 100,671 in 1900. Several instances of padded census reports were found by the department in the returns from Seattle and Portland. The figures announced tonight are the revised reports made by the government.

Therefore, the increase between 1907 and 1910 was 242,973, or 17.2 per cent.

Every time a man wants to get away from all connection with the busy world the telephone is an important helper.

Local service is useful in arranging his affairs at home and the long distance service of the Bell System helps him to decide where to go and what to take.

By means of his Bell telephone he can find out whether the fish are biting or the birds are flying, and whether guides or horses can be secured.

After he has been out a while if he wants to get word from the city, the nearest Bell telephone is a friend in need.

The demand is not for "cheap" telephone service but for a "comprehensive" and "reliable" telephone service.

DIAZ EXECUTES 500 INSURGENTS

REOPENING OF MEXICAN TELEGRAPH LINES.

Quiet, Say Officials, and American Reports Shooting of Rebels at Puebla—Guerrilla Warfare.

THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY

San Angelo, Tex., Nov. 28.—The re-opening of telegraphic communication with Mexico City and other points brought a recrudescence of sensational rumors concerning the situation of the Republic, all of which are more or less discounted in official quarters.

That the government of President Diaz had made bloody reprisals upon the revolutionists for the outbreak at Puebla was indicated in a telegram received here today, stating that 500 of the rebels had been captured and shot by order of the government. The news came from an American who formerly lived at Puebla.

An unverified report reached here from Brownsville, Tex., of a fight at Camargo, 90 miles above Matamoros. In official circles the confident assurance is given that the revolt had been suppressed and that quiet reigned throughout the country.

Downfall of Corral.
Opposed to the views of officials are the statements of Americans reaching Brownsville from across the border. One of these, an American scientist, declares that fighting, far from being stopped, is being waged guerrilla fashion in many places.

For months past, he says, arms and ammunition have been pouring into Mexico through every port and border gateway, and there are many thousands of well armed insurgents in the field. The widespread fighting is to scatter the federal troops so as to weaken the defense of the capital.

Whether or not the insurgents win, he says, they have already marked the downfall of the unpopular Vice President Corral, whose forcing upon the people by Diaz is held as the chief reason for the rebellion.

Mormons Armed.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 28.—The El Paso Herald received from its staff correspondent who left Juarez Friday morning for the Mormon colony in Northern Chihuahua, a telegram, saying that a battle had been fought between insurgents and officers on Wednesday in that region and that the Mormons were now arming themselves in preparation to repulse an attack if any were made.

At Managua, 125 miles south from here two insurrectionists were killed and a number of police and rebels were wounded. This fight took place on Wednesday. Two hundred insurrectionists who started to clean up Managua Wednesday are now reported to be within 50 miles of here.

Would Land Arms.

Mexico City, Nov. 28.—It is reported from Tampico that an unknown schooner is attempting to land arms for the rebels at Soro la Murina. The supplies are believed to have been shipped from St. Louis via New Orleans. The government has dispatched a gunboat to the scene.

The only news to reach this city today indicating activity on the part of the revolutionists is a statement that a band of 25 to 30 half starved men early today raided the Retona ranch near Sacramento, 30 miles north of Horreon.

The ranch store is said to have been stripped of provisions, these apparently being the sole quest of the marauders. Nothing else was noted.

A call for rurales was sent to Lerdo and they at once went in pursuit.

How to Tell if Your Hair Is Diseased.

Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not, 98 per cent of the people need a hair tonic.

Pull a hair out of your head; if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shrunken, it proves that the hair is diseased, and requires prompt treatment if its loss would be avoided. If the bulb is pink and full the hair is healthy.

We want every one whose hair requires treatment to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We promise that it shall not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. It is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, to stimulate the hair roots, tighten the hair already in the head, grow hair and cure baldness.

It is because of what Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has done and our sincere faith in its goodness that we want you to try it at our risk. Two sizes, 5c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store—the Rexall Store. W. B. McPherson.

James A. Cook, the American railroad conductor, who since August, 1909, has been on trial in three Guadalajara courts on a charge of criminal carelessness growing out of the robbery of a train in his charge, was given unconditional liberty yesterday. He had been released from custody on bond last February.

Several days ago the first civil court declared Cook innocent of the charge against him. Yesterday the state prosecutor declined to avail himself of his right to appeal from the decision, and Cook's bond was canceled.

War Is Over.

New York, Nov. 28.—President Diaz has addressed the following telegram to New York and it will be published here this morning:

"The recent riots in certain portions of Mexico are the political work of Francisco Madero. According to the proclamations he has published on throwing himself into the attempted revolution, his object was to attain the presidency by force, since he is unable to do so by the votes of his fellow citizens."

"This political movement will not extend, since hitherto it has limited itself to riots in Puebla, Gomez Palacio, Parral and Ciudad Guerrero. In all these places they have been repressed."

"The Mexican people love peace and understand its benefits and will not accept any revolution. Further the business men understand that their interests would be in danger in the hand of persons who profess socialism and carry on an anarchistic propaganda."

"No danger exists here, either for the natives or for foreigners, but it is very distressing that the press should publish sensational and exaggerated news which tends to cause alarm in the money markets and do damage to business."

"It cannot be said that there have been any serious disturbances, for even in the places where there have been riots, to which I have referred, order has been re-established, and every one is attending to their affairs with no more excitement than that created by the sensational news."

On the other hand, the government is supported by public opinion and a well disciplined army."

Mexican Rebels Are Defeated.

Chihuahua, Mexico, Nov. 28.—In an engagement near here, which lasted from 9 a.m. until 2 o'clock in the afternoon, 600 federal troops routed a force of 400 Maderistas, compelling them to take to the wooded mountains.

The revolutionists lost 15 killed and many wounded. There were no fatalities of the federal side but several were wounded.

General Navarro was in command of the federal troops.

Artillery and cavalry left tonight, making a detour to intercept the revolutionists.

The Only Guaranteed Shoes on Earth

Never before has it been possible to buy guaranteed shoes, because never before have guaranteed shoes been made. Heretofore it has been absolutely impossible for manufacturers to make a shoe good enough to guarantee. Their enormous selling expense prevented it. High salaried traveling men, big hotel bills, etc., cost shoe manufacturers over Five Million Dollars a year.

But the Desnoyers Shoe Co. did away with traveling men and their big expenses. They sell direct to dealers by letter, and put the thousands of dollars saved into better leather and other materials. Thus they can afford to make a shoe that's far superior to others and good enough to guarantee.

Desnoyers "Six Months" Shoes

GUARANTEED TO GIVE FULL SIX MONTHS' WEAR

These shoes will be a revelation to the people of this town. They are marvels of beauty, style and shape. Never before have you seen such leather and such wearing qualities.

Here's the Guarantee

If either the soles or uppers wear out within four months we agree to furnish a new pair of shoes entirely free of charge. If either the soles or uppers wear out during the fifth month we agree to refund $2.00 in cash. If either the soles or uppers wear out during the sixth month we agree to refund $1.00 in cash. In other words, if these shoes should not give full six months' wear we refund more than the proportion they fall short.

Best Leather in the World

The manufacturers of "Six Months" Shoes send way to Switzerland and France for the hides from which they make these shoes.

The Swiss Soles are tanned from Switzerland hides, which are the toughest and finest hides for sole leather produced anywhere in the world, owing to Switzerland's high altitude and the extreme care with which the Swiss stock is raised. It is protected from all weather conditions and kept clean and healthy.

Best Looking and Best Wearing Shoes Made

"Six Months" Shoes are wonderful in appearance as well as in wearing qualities. They combine style, finish and quality in a degree never before equaled in a shoe selling at anywhere near the same price.

A Quality Shoe Clear Through

"Six Months" Shoes are made with sole leather box toes to give extra strength at the tip. Army duck lining is used, which costs twice as much as ordinary lining, but it is the strongest and smoothest lining made.

The uppers are stitched together by lock-stitch machines using the very highest grade silk thread. Nothing but the best Irish Linen thread is used in sewing the soles. These methods add cost more, but they make the shoes last much longer.

We "Make Good" the Guarantee

You don't have to send your shoes to the factory to be repaired or to secure the refund. We make good the guarantee and the manufacturer pays us. You have no dealings whatever with strangers.

Daily Thought.

When you are in the right you can afford to keep your temper, and when you are in the wrong you can't afford to lose it.—George Horace Lorimer.

This, from the Hopkinsville Kentucky New Era, hath a familiar ring to it: "The crowd in attendance upon the farmers' institute today is disappointing. Those who are not present are indeed missing a rare opportunity."

Paducah shares in the honor of the recognition accorded her favorite son by the offer of a bank presidency in the eastern Kentucky metropolis; yet, we notify Lexington that we cannot spare Capt. Ed Farley as a citizen, however, willing we may be to lend the talent of the Purchase to the development of Blue Grass.

SENATOR EATON'S OPPORTUNITY.

Senator W. V. Eaton has recognized one of the most significant factors in political life today—the lack of confidence manifested by voters in parties and public men—in advocating the popular primary as a step toward unshoring the bosses and placing party control in the hands of the people. With the experience and prestige he gained at the last session of the legislature, he should be able to accomplish much good for the commonwealth at the next session.

We believe that under the present legislative system, with all the work done in committees away from the eyes of the public, a legislator can be of most use by mapping out a program of what he wishes to accomplish at the session—and that reduced to the minimum—and sticking to that, regardless of all other considerations. Time was when each legislator was judged at home by the spoils he brought to his constituents in the way of offices and public expenditures; and each man went there, as congressmen go to a tariff revision, determined to get something for his "district." Thus the state was despised, taxes made grievous and burdensome, lobbyists given free rein to graft and bribe, and iniquitous laws enacted, and benevolent ones smothered in committees.

We believe that kind of representation is out of date. The state is no longer a rich prize that goes to the winners of the election, to be divided between legislative districts. The erstwhile beneficiaries of the spoils system have been made to pay dearly for their own folly. Kentucky is calling for statesmen to readjust her taxes and school system, her prisons and reform schools, her method of political control, her highways and every other avenue of public enterprise.

The New Nationalism, if it has done nothing else, has pointed to the fact that the several states require the attention of statesmen as much as the federal government, and the people are looking to the latter for protection, because the states have utterly failed in those functions, which the constitution reserved to them. Surely Kentucky offers all the opportunity a statesman could desire for the exercise of his talents.

We cannot say we approve the idea of assessing candidates for the expense of the primary. The advantage of the primary to the people is worth what it costs, and if the primary law is properly drawn, the taxpayers will save through it in the conduct of public affairs more than it will cost them in taxes.

We probably go beyond Senator Eaton in our theory of the popular primary. We judge from his interview that he would maintain party lines in the primary vote. We would eliminate them, and for this reason: at present, while the good citizens are divided between the parties, the "interests," which benefit selfishly through political manipulation, know no party affiliation, and by throwing their united influence one way or the other, become the actual balance of power. With a popular primary in which the Australian system is used with the names of candidates of all parties on one ballot, the good citizens could throw their united and secret influence on the right side of whichever party fight at the time present the most important moral issue, and thus become the balance of power. We say this, though we admit that it would be to the advantage of the dominant party. It has been worked out in the western states satisfactorily, and in the Wisconsin primaries, for instance, the most re-

VITAL STATISTICS BUREAU.

Bowling Green, Ky., Nov. 28. (Special.)—Active preparations are being made here for the operation of the bureau of vital statistics law, which goes into effect Jan. 1, 1911. This law provides for the reporting and recording of all births and deaths and the collection of morbidity statistics. It is a department of the state board of health and is one far-reaching in its importance to the welfare and lives of the people of Kentucky.

Kentucky has placed herself in the front rank of states doing most for the preservation of health and in the establishment of a bureau of vital statistics she is the first of the entire south to take this long-neglected step.

Ohio, Massachusetts, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Maryland, Missouri, California and nine other states have a successful operation such a department maintained of records of births and for a more successful fight against the ravages of disease, by means of the certificates of deaths returned to the state office. The state registrar, Dr. W. L. Heizer, who will inaugurate and manage the bureau of vital statistics, has just returned from an extended visit in Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C., where he studied the operation of the law in those states which are declared by Dr. Cressy L. Wilbur, chief statistician of the federal government, to be the best in operation in the United States.

Kentucky's bureau will be a combination of the best features of these states with some suggestions of the census department added.

Under the law, before a body is buried, the undertaker must procure a burial or removal permit, which shall be issued only by the local registrar, who will be placed at convenient localities. This permit can be secured only when a certificate of death has been filed out by the physician, and in the event the markable discrimination was manifested by voters in congressional districts. Being secret the primary vote does not affect the voter's right to exercise his own judgment at the polls.

The important thing about government is that it be conducted in such a manner as to be the least burdensome and to insure equal rights and protection. Whatever enables us to secure the best government is right and proper, and that is the only thing an intelligent voter is expected to consider.

LIKE SUN

GOD'S SPIRIT IS REFLECTED IN MAN'S CAPACITY.

The Rev. D. W. Fooks Preaches on "The Spirit Filled Life" Sunday.

"Man is a great receptacle," said the Rev. D. W. Fooks in his sermon yesterday morning on the subject of the "Spirit Filled Life." Man is ever waiting and desiring to be satisfied by something, and God is always willing to fill man with His spirit according to man's capacity. Stand on the deck of a steamer in mid-ocean, and you behold the sun reflected from its bosom. Stand on the margin of a mountain lake and the same sun is reflected from its bosom. A mountain spring gives the same reflection. Again in the dew drops we see mirrored the same beauty. Thus, the sun adapts itself

How Dollars Grow

Two hundred and thirty-eight million dollars is the annual fire loss in the United States. Almost every one carries insurance. Some companies are reliable and can be depended upon to pay losses promptly and without a murmur. Six out of every seven companies that started in this country have failed. A strong company with ample resources and in business for many years is the best protection. We represent nine such companies.

If your property is not insured, or you do not know the strength of the company in which you are insured, it would pay you to see us, as the rates are the same with all companies in Paducah.

TOBACCO SALES SMALL.*Warmer Weather Needed to Start Business Humming.

Clarksville, Tenn., Nov. 28.—It is still playtime for the local tobacco buyers. This week there were neither receipts nor sales. The weather has not been soft enough to give receipts of loose tobacco to start the loose tobacco warehouses and factories going.

In the meantime farmers gather their corn, for which the weather has been favorable, and kill their hogs and put up their meat supplies and lay their plans for the coming year.

They will make a good, active market here for the tobacco crops. The utmost harmony prevails without a cloud upon the sky. Unfortunately, the contrary conditions exist in the Ohio river districts, where the planters have fixed a price on their pooled crops, and sent peaceful delegations to all of the buyers asking them not to buy the independent crops until they sold out their pool. They started that way once before, and we all know how distressingly it progressed and closed.

There has been a little rain, but not enough for a season for fired tobacco, nominally, the quotations are:

New York, Nov. 28.—Broughton Brandenburg forfeited a bail bond of $750 by not appearing at the criminal courts building to stand trial on a charge of forgery, and was declared a fugitive from justice.

This is not the first time that Brandenburg has jumped his bail. When under indictment as having fraudulently sold to the Times, for $500, an article purporting to have been written by Grover Cleveland, he took French leave of the authorities. He started for San Francisco via St. Louis, where he paused to secure his wife's son, James S. Cabaniss III, for a traveling companion. He was soon in the hands of the police and brought back to New York. He married the daughter of Simeon Leonard of Eddyville, Ky.

Navy Earns Its Victory.

The Navy deserved the victory, for the midshipmen put up a sterling game and outplayed the cadets from the initial kickoff down to the instant when Field Judge Fultz threw up his sand and declared the contest at an end.

Of Dalton's seven attempts at goals from the field three were made from the thirty yard line, the last of which succeeded; one from the nineteen yard line, one from twenty-six yard line, another from thirty-nine, and one mighty effort fifty-one yards from the army goal. All but three of his kicks carried to the goal line, but the stiff wind from the northwest which blew across the field, carried the ball to one side of the goal posts. Dean, the star punter of the army, made two attempts at field goals, one from the forty-four yard line and the other at forty-five yards, but neither kick came near a score.

The frequency with which resort was made to this method of attempting to score was because of the difficulty each team had in advancing the ball consistently. Comparatively few first downs were made by either team, but what advantage there was in this respect was with the Navy. The midshipmen played a fine offensive game and there were few times throughout the sixty minutes of action that the midshipmen did not have an advantage on the defensive.

Many Dignitaries Witness Contest Between Uncle Sam's Fighting Boys.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 28.—That old rule which teaches that if one cares to succeed he must try, try again, was forcibly brought to mind on Franklin field, when in the Navy in a hard and clean game of football and before a large and enthusiastic crowd defeated their old rivals, the Army, by the score of 3 to 0.

After six attempts to boot the ball from placement over the West Point goal line, Dalton, the sturdy right half back of the midshipmen team, succeeded in getting the ball past the three points for which he had been striving looked good to the Navy and proved to be sufficient to win the game. It was a pretty kick squarely between the goal post and was not enough for a season for fired tobacco, nominally, the quotations are:

Clergyman's Son Cured of Tuberculosis

To neglect a cold, bronchitis, lung trouble or consumption is dangerous. We all have consumption. It is a flattering disease, and the sufferer is filled with bright hopes of improvement. Call consumption by its own dread name, and then take Eckman's Alternative cure, which is effective in Tuberculosis. No one need doubt about it—there is plenty of evidence from live witnesses. Investigate the following:—

Eckman: "Prior to Feb., 1918, I was located in Rochester, N. Y., suffering with LaGrippe, which developed into Tuberculosis. My physician gave terrible medicine to me, which caused terrible pitch sweats and mid-day chills and loss of sleep rapidly, having gone from 155 to 125 lbs. I coughed and raised continually expectorated mucus, which was thicker than molasses. On my return home, my regular physician gave me little encouragement. My father, who is a clergyman, heard of Eckman's Alternative cure and induced me to take it. The night sweats and chills disappeared, my cough became easier and gradually diminished and in a few days I developed an appetite, the strength returning, am now in perfect health, back to 155 lbs. I feel certain that I owe my life to Eckman's Alternative."

KILLED FOUR BEARS.

Tells Thrilling Story of Hand-to-Hand Encounter.

Monticello, N. Y., Nov. 26.—William Misener has established a new bear killing record. He shot and killed three by design and then slew a fourth by accident. As he tells the story, he noted the tracks, which led him to a cave. He built a smoke fire. In five minutes out shambled a big black bear. He killed it instantly. Within a period of twenty minutes two other bears came out. Each were killed. Then he crawled into the cave in search of cubs. He was confronted by a 300 pound male bear. In a cramped position he could not use his gun, but drew a hunting knife and began driving the blade in the animal's chest and ribs. They struggled madly for a moment, then, Misener says, his gun was discharged and the bear fell dead.

TRADING CHECKED AT THANKSGIVING

OTHER FEATURES IMPOSED SOME RESTRAINT.

Money is More Plentiful and Easier—East Slightly Depressed.

WEST IS IN GOOD CONDITION

New York, Nov. 28. (Special)—Trading on the stock exchange was somewhat checked by intervention of the Thanksgiving holiday. In addition to this factor the contradictory features of the general situation imposed some restraint upon activity in general. Reactionary tendencies are decidedly more evident than six months ago, and the year drawing to a close shows a very different business temper. The whole year has been a period of readjustment, some lines of business maintaining continued activity as result of previous momentum, while others showed a decided slackening if not actual retrogression. As reaction touched first one department of industry and then another, the conviction spread abroad that no general recovery was possible until the readjustment process was complete and a general evening up—or, more properly speaking, shaking down—had taken place. The fact that we had reached, for the present at least, a climax in the upward movement was popularly expressed in innumerable complaints about high costs of living. These complaints at first originated with the consumer. They now come from the producer and distributor, who find the enhanced cost of doing business a serious detriment. The consequence is a wholesome change. Economy is at last taking the place of extravagance with the consumer, while efficiency has become the watch-word among producers and distributors. At the same time, owing to good crops the cost of living promises to be further reduced by a drop in the price of food products. According to the statistics of the department of agriculture, the combined cereal crops of 1910 show an increase of 8 per cent over last year, corn and oats reporting record-breaking yields. As a result of the big corn crop the price of meat has already declined, and the cereal being an important element in the cost of raising cattle it would seem as if the price of meat should remain on the lower basis.

The Outlook.

With some relief in the high cost of living in sight, and with the political campaign out of the way, two important elements of depression have been ameliorated, if not removed. It is true the tariff question is still with us. We must expect and endure a period of heated and prolonged discussion, but new legislation seems hardly probable before 1912. Our new congressmen do not go into office until a year hence, and all talk of an extra session of congress after March 4, 1911, when the approaching session ends, should be earnestly discouraged. The short session beginning a week hence will be fully occupied with appropriations and other necessary routine affairs, and these should not be delayed in order to afford a pretext for forcing the president into calling an extra session to enable premature seating of new members. There is danger of a political trick of this sort, and it should be severely disconcerted by the entire business community. It is universally admitted that the tariff must be revised downwards, but hasty action is inadvisable, and the country is entitled to a period of rest before another change is enforced. Some interval between medicinal doses is necessary, or even our vigorous tariff-fed infant will not survive the treatment.

Money.

Improvement in the monetary situation is more evident. Money is more plentiful and easier rates prevail. Funds are returning from the interior, and in spite of gold shipments to Canada the outlook is for continued ease until the approach of January disbursements and other operations incidental to the opening of the new year. The investment situation, however, is not entirely satisfactory for the reason that investors and leaders are waiting for greater inducements. Capital is insisting upon better terms as well as labor. Recent new bond issues have been placed with fair success, but it is noticeable that these are much more readily absorbed in foreign markets than at home. There is a slight improvement in the demand for bonds, yet it is evident that pending issues will only be successful through offering better terms.

than have previously been acceptable. Considering the necessities of the railroads, it is an open question as to whether the latter should not resort more freely once more to the short-term note, which filled the gap so well in 1907 and which would at least tide the companies over until money market conditions were more favorable for the placing of bonds.

Stocks.

In the stock market a slightly better feeling exists owing to the belief that the railroads will secure some concessions in the matter of rates. It is believed that as a rule they may secure about half of what they asked, although in some cases the concessions will not be as great and in others they will be more than this amount. The views of government officials and others recently expressed before the Railway Business association had a reassuring effect in Wall street, although apparently previously discounted. The railroads are much in need of funds and are not likely to meet with much success unless allowed to secure fair profits. The present quietness in trade may impose an extra strain upon their earning capacity, and already managers are considering plans for enforcing economy. The renewed aggressiveness of labor at this time is exceedingly inopportune, considering the reactionary tendencies in business, which must have their effect upon railroad traffic.

West Well Off.

Depression is more keen in the east than in the west, where the beneficial influence of good crops is distinctly felt. The decline in farmers' profits, however, is a factor that must be reckoned with, considering the increased obligations and expenses which many must face. The farmer will not be as prosperous as a year ago. In eastern industrial circles there is more or less depression because of the reaction in business. The disposition among consumers to economize is certainly checking consumption. In the great iron industry, which leads all others in importance, there is still a very pronounced state of inactivity. The latter is not likely to be removed until the railroads come into the market as purchasers of materials, something which they will be unable to do until the rate question is settled and the outlook for traffic becomes more encouraging. Present conditions suggest fair activity in the stock market, with moderate fluctuations in either direction. Trading has unquestionably been checked by recent manipulation, which carried prices quite beyond the views of buyers. A reaction of a few points would place the market upon a sounder basis and afford some inducement to both investment and speculative operations. Much will depend upon President Taft's message and the opening of congress a week hence. HENRY CLEWS.

HAD SCRATCHED FOR 28 YEARS

TILL IT GOT TO BE SECOND NATURE—SUFFERING ENDLESS AND WITHOUT RELIEF—CUTICURA MADE SKIN AS CLEAR AS A BABY'S.

"If I had known of the Cuticura Remedies fifty years ago it would have saved me two hundred dollars in an investment of a sufficient sum. My disease (psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time and my suffering was endless and without relief—nothing could distract me from it. It tempted me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man but feel rich to be free of what some of the doctors called leprosy, some ringworm, psoriasis, etc. I took and —sarsaparilla over a year and a half but got no cure. I cannot praise Cuticura enough. It has made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was two cakes of Cuticura Soap, three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and three boxes of Cuticura Resolvent. If you had seen there and said you would have given me two or three hundred dollars, you would have paid the money. I was covered with the scales but by using Cuticura I was soon as clear as any person ever was. This was over twenty-two years ago and for a long time, through force of habit, I used to rub my hands over my arms and to scratch but for no purpose. I was well. I had scratched twenty-eight years and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. Dennis Downing, Waterbury, Vt., Nov. 27, 1909.

PROBLEM BEFORE THE GOVERNORS

INCLUDES SOME FIFTY NEEDED REFORMS.

Uniform Laws Not the Least of These to Be Considered This Week.

MEETING AT FRANKFORT, KY.

'At the conservation conference a committee was appointed to arrange time and place for a session of the governors in a body of their own, independent of the president, and this action resulted in the first meeting of the "House of Governors" in January, 1910. The adoption of the report of the plan and scope committee, of which Justice Hughes, then governor of New York, was chairman, raised it from the limitation of a mere conference to the dignity of a formal, organized, permanent institution, the details of which will be completed at the second meeting, which begins November 29, at Frankfort, Kentucky.

There are perhaps 50 great questions in this country today wherein uniform laws seem essential for the best interests of all the states, and on these congress is powerless to act.

We need uniform marriage and divorce law. In our 46 states there are no two that have the same list of causes for divorce. They vary from no divorce on any ground whatever in South Carolina to 12 in New Hampshire. Divorces are difficult to secure in one state, while another has them on the bargain counter with special attention paid to transient customers. The contradictions, confusion, and injustice of this condition is a blot on the nation.

Morality is not a question of geographic boundaries. The lack of a uniform insurance law is costing the companies today about $20,000,000 dollars a year, a four per cent, dividend on half a billion. Automobiles passing over a state-line are subject to rules and regulations as new and different as though they had crossed a frontier into another country.

Among the other subjects upon which uniform laws may be desirable may be named—rights of married women, corporations and trusts, corrupt practices, child labor, capital punishment, improved primaries, convict labor, prison reform, contracts, publicity of campaign expenses before election, uniform system of conveyancing, inheritance tax, income tax, mortgages, referendum, election reforms, and similar topics. The instances are countless. This nation shows its inherent vitality in the marvelous manner in which it has survived the chaos of its conflicting laws.

The attempt at securing uniform laws is far from being the only justification of the house of governors. Were the governors of the states merely to meet annually for a few days' session, to learn to know one another and, in a frank free interchange of opinion and view, to get new illumination on their state problems, and then adjourn without a single tangible result that they could exhibit as the outcome of their conference, they would have more than justified their coming together.

HEDGEHOGS AS PETS.

One in Your Purse Pocket Guard Against Thieves.

Few wild creatures make more interesting and useful pets than the hedgehog, says the Lady's Pictorial. Its chief charm is that it will grow quite tame in a few days and allow you to handle it with impunity.

In country houses one or two are often kept in the wine cellars. This is owing to the hedgehog's fondness for black beetles and other insects which they hunt and eat in large quantities.

Many people, especially women, make pets of the creature, keeping it in smart hutches and during the day allowing it to roam about the sitting rooms and carrying its young ones about with them in their pockets. One English woman says that there is no better safeguard against the pickpocket than to carry a baby hedgehog in the pocket in which you also carry your purse.

She adds, however, that care must be taken not to forget that the little creature is in the pocket and suddenly thrust your hand into it.

The hedgehog must be fed on bread and milk, grass, worms and all the insects that can be caught. Both the young and the old, and especially the former, are most interesting and amusing. Indeed, there is no prettier sight than a family of baby hedgehogs at play.

They can be taught to come and feed out of the hand and to drink milk from a spoon. They can also be taught to perform simple tricks. Another charm of the hedgehogs as a pet is that if kept out of doors or in a cold cellar it will hibernate during very cold weather when ladies and children might find it an inconvenience.

A friend suggested to me the idea of trying Grape-Nuts food which I did, making it a large part of at least two meals a day.

"Today, I am free from brain-tire, dyspepsia, and all the ills of an over-worked and improperly nourished brain and body. To Grape-Nuts I owe the recovery of my health, and the ability to retain my position and income."

What a Child Saw.

[Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association.]

"And this is the place?"

"It is."

"Where is the ghost?"

"The ghost, here, is only to be seen by children. They describe it as a woman raking leaves. When she looks up at them they see only a skull instead of a face. She may be raking over there now. Yet we cannot see her."

Annette, who was with me, looked at me with a frightened expression. We were in the valley of Chamoux surrounded by snowy peaks, among which Mont Blanc rose highest. Hearing of the legend, I had engaged a guide to conduct us to the spot the ghost was said to inhabit.

"Your children hereabout," I said to the guide, "are doubtless under the influence of the story. Imagination paints the image on the retina of the child's eye."

The guide shook his head negatively. "If here will bring a child here who has never heard of the legend he will know better."

"That is a proposition which meets my concurrence. An American family arrived at the hotel this morning, among them a little girl of seven. What do you say, Annette? Shall we make the test with her?"

Annette winced. She placed the tips of her fingers on my sleeve as if for protection.

The act gave me a suggestion. It was not clearly defined, nor had I much faith in it. Nevertheless, I had a mind to proceed.

"We will bring the child here," I added, then, turning to the guide, "and, Herman, if she sees the ghost I will give you an American gold eagle for a memento of the occasion."

"Thanks, here. I consider myself richer by that amount."

"Don't say we will bring her here," said Annette, with a shrug. "I shall have nothing to do with the matter."

"Surely you do not expect—well, then, Herman must lose his eagle."

"I'll come," said Annette after a bit of struggle with herself.

We succeeded in getting permission from the child's parents the next afternoon to take her to walk with us. I felt sure that if spirituality would enable her to discern the ghost she would see it. She was like a walf from spirit land, large dreamy eyes—wonder eyes I would call them—the face of a child Madonna, sensitive lips, the figure of a sprite. She walked with us in silence, treading the ground so lightly that I sometimes wondered if she touched it at all. Annette could not keep her eyes off her, seemingly enthralled by her, though our quest may have had much to do with that.

Besides, our surroundings were impressive. What is there more typical of the infinite than a mountain raising its white head into the heavenly blue? And what more typical of infinity than a host of such mountains looming on all sides, three snow fringed glaciers wriggling like serpents down their sides? Our little friend looked up at the peaks with a sort of trustfulness, as if they were animate—her older brothers, resting, silent, conscious of latent power. The wind was fresh, and it seemed that it would take up the child and carry her to some far peak gilded by the afternoon sun where she would be nearer her own country.

Among the other subjects upon which uniform laws may be desirable may be named—rights of married women, corporations and trusts, corrupt practices, child labor, capital punishment, improved primaries, convict labor, prison reform, contracts, publicity of campaign expenses before election, uniform system of conveyancing, inheritance tax, income tax, mortgages, referendum, election reforms, and similar topics. The instances are countless. This nation shows its inherent vitality in the marvelous manner in which it has survived the chaos of its conflicting laws.

The attempt at securing uniform laws is far from being the only justification of the house of governors. Were the governors of the states merely to meet annually for a few days' session, to learn to know one another and, in a frank free interchange of opinion and view, to get new illumination on their state problems, and then adjourn without a single tangible result that they could exhibit as the outcome of their conference, they would have more than justified their coming together.

As we drew near the spot we sought Annette weakened. I saw in her expression that she feared we would have evidence of the specter's presence. The child was walking before us, and Annette, sidling toward me, laid her hand on my arm, as before, this time clutching it in terror.

We stood on the ground we had occupied the day before, looking out on the spot Herman had referred to when he said, "She may be raking over there now." A wind rolled over some dead leaves where we fancied the woman worked. Annette drew near me—so near that her silken sleeve rubbed against my arm. The child stood a few steps before us, looking at the mountains, the valleys, anything, everything that made up the view.

"Herman has lost his eagle," I said in a low voice to Annette. "She sees nothing unusual."

"Thank heaven!" was the whispered reply.

"What a desolate spot!" I remarked aloud. "Not a living thing here but ourselves."

"Yes, there is," said the child. "There's a woman over there raking dead leaves."

I felt a convulsive grip on my arm. I knew Annette needed support, and I put my arm about her to steady her. I confess I was startled myself.

"Where?" I asked of the child.

"Over there," pointing. "She sees us. There are only holes where the eyes should be."

"Oh, come away!"

It was Annette who wailed the words. But she had no power to go. My plan had worked too well. Its object—excite in her that craving for protection which would throw her into my arms—had succeeded, but I feared the shock. I took her in my arms and put my face against her cold cheek. I looked love into her wild eyes. All to no purpose. I could get nothing but convulsive shudders, clutchings.

That was a long while ago. Annette is my wife, but I have never ceased to regret that I uncovered her heart in a way so dangerous. She was long in recovering from the shock, and even now I do not dare refer to the matter. No explanation of the wonder has ever come to me. I have no theory concerning it and don't wish any. All I ask is that I and Annette may forget it.

CHILLING BLASTS WILL BE FELT AS FAR SOUTH AS GULF.

Weather Map Shows Two Disturbances, One Central Over Mississippi Valley.

Washington, Nov. 28.—Storms and cold weather generally throughout the country is the prediction of the weather bureau for this week. Chief Moore issued the following forecast:

The international weather charts prepared daily at the central office of the weather bureau indicate that during the coming week a series of storms of marked intensity will cross the United States, and that temperature changes preceding the storms and also following disturbances will be decided.

A disturbance that now covers the Mississippi valley will advance eastward and cause unsettled weather with rains in the middle and southern states, and rain and snow in the northern districts east of the Mississippi valley during the first part of the week. This disturbance will be followed by a marked change to colder weather as far south as the gulf states and Florida by Monday night on Tuesday.

Another disturbance that is off the North Pacific coast will advance slowly eastward, attended by general precipitation, and reach the Atlantic states by Thursday. It will be preceded by rising temperature and will in all probability be followed by a widespread change to colder weather.

Recommended to Herself.

A negro servant had been discharged by her mistress because of various failings, and a few days afterward called with a request for a recommendation.

Her former employer, with the best heart of the world, decided to assist her in obtaining a new situation and wrote a letter which dilated upon the colored girl's good qualities and made no mention of her shortcomings.

Dinah read the letter through with glowing eyes, her black face shining more with every word. When she had finished she turned to the lady and said:

"Laws, missus, but yo' cert'ly did say dat nice. Now, missus, with er strong recommend like dat ter back me, don't yo' think yo' could hire me fo dat job ergin?"—Housekeeper.
